Five real jet-setting ladies from around the world spill the goss on their beauty rules and products they live by. Check their skin and sanity-saving travel must-tows By Shantila Lee

LEA VANZELLA

"I see beauty as something that comes from within," says Lea, who hails from Cologne, Germany. Now a bona fide

Sydneysider oft spotted frolicking on Bondi beach with hubby Dom, Lea has one beauty rule that makes her the stunning babe she is: keep it natural. "I focus on healthy living, and healthy eating, and I try to get enough sleep. I also have very sensitive skin, so I use a lot of calming and nourishing products." We love her wholesome, au naturel mantra.

THE BODY SHOP Aloe Calming Facial Cleanser: "it's very nourishing and perfect for my sensitive skin. It's very mild and I sometimes use it just to refresh my face in the morning."

L'OCITANE Almond Shower Scrub: "It's glow on the go, quick and easy and very stimulating. It smells divine as well."

BAREMINERALS Original Powder Foundation SPF15: "Love the soft focus look, and its natural minerals to boot! The fact it protects my skin from the harsh Australian sun is an added bonus. I am very careful about sun exposure and I try to protect my skin as best as I can."

ERIN ROBERTSON

An effortlessly gorgeous Alaskan native, Erin is currently posted in Afghanistan and regularly jets around the planet (in style, no doubt) as a US Diplomat du jour. Her beauty mantra is "hydration, hydration, hydration!": "I spend a lot of time in airplanes, which are infamous for that dry cabin air that sucks the moisture from your skin. So my essential travel products are things that keep both me and my skin hydrated."

OLAY Regenerist Micro-Sculpting Face Cream: "I've tried dozens of super pricey moisturisers and various organic lines, but nothing works better than this. It's heavy enough to keep my skin hydrated, but light enough to keep my face looking fresh, not shiny."

KIEHL'S Lip Balm #1: "It's not waxy, it's not greasy, it's just... perfect! And it keeps my lips moist through long hours of travelling."

YVES SAINT LAURENT Touche Éclat Radiant Touch: "I always use this right before landing, a luminising pen you use under your eyes. It's like a light, bright foundation that instantly brightens my whole complexion while removing any signs of travel fatigue that may have set in after a long flight."

LISA BUDAVARI

A Hungarian model with beyond sublime bone structure, Lisa knocked our socks off while nailing an amazeballs hair editorial spread for our November 2012 issue. She regularly treks from one corner of the fashion world to another for modelling gigs, staying in zen mode at all times: "I always try to sleep as much as I can. I take everything easy, and never stress too much because that's ruining you, inside and out."

BOSCIA Tsubaki Cleansing Oil-Gel: "I make sure I wash my face every morning and every night. I use this with cold water in the morning for a quick pick me up, and it's also great to tighten pores."

CHANEL Inimitable Mascara in Noir Black: "I don't like to wear a lot of makeup day to day but I always use this to make my eyes pop, and it looks so natural."

DOVE Nourishing Oil Care Shampoo: "This ultra nourishing shampoo repairs damage from the constant curling, ironing, and blowouts I endure on photo shoots."

MEAGHAN WHYTE

A true-blue Aussie with stunning looks and an entrepreneurial knack to match, Meghan spearheads White Rabbit, her own media consulting business. Believe us when we say she has her beauty mojo down pat: "Every woman is uniquely gorgeous—learn to love yourself, then utilise great makeup to enhance your best features." And enhance she does, always nailing killer eyeliner and luminescent skin. "Complement this with a fantastic diet, exercise and plenty of sleep."

DIOR Diorshow Iconic Overcurl Mascara: "This gorgeous inky black mascara stays perfectly in place no matter what adventures I find myself in, and gives me night-long retro-tastic lashes."

CLINIQUE Moisture Surge Tinted Moisturiser: "Clinique's amazing tinted moisturiser creates the most flawless, airbrushed complexion—always apply with a brush for best results. The hydration this gives gets amplified by drinking lots of fresh water, nourishing from the inside out."

SEBASTIAN Penetraitt Shampoo and Conditioner: "My tresses are maintained beautifully by using this to repair damage from sun, sea and colouring."

JULIE MUN

A Korean beauty who works as a Brand Manager, Julie is one of those Korean girls who know their beauty shiz down to a T. "I never leave home without sunblock and chapstick, and I never hit the sack without taking off makeup and pepping with eye cream for a good night's beauty sleep." Wisdom we could all use—ladies, take a cue.

AMORE PACIFIC Treatment Cleansing Oil: "I personally believe that skincare starts from cleansing away makeup. This gets pores squeaky clean."

CHANEL Sublimage La Creme Yeux: "Expensive but totally worth it. Some eye creams dry out and don't seem to really work, but this is rich and really smoothes the texture around the eye contour."

BOBBI BROWN Extra Soothing Balm: "I have sensitive, dry skin, which gets worse under air conditioning. This beats any facial mist—I apply it in the morning and again circa 3pm for supreme hydration."
