

Hot Child IN THE CITY

Totally beach-worthy makeup looks that any LA babe would rock, hot off the runways of Spring/Summer 2015

Photography Gerald Goh/ImageRom Art Direction Karen Hoo Styling Shantila Lee

BRONZE GODDESS

For long summer days (and nights), try the smokey-when-wet makeup look at Roberto Cavalli: a bronzy-chocolate shimmery hue, fresh yet smouldering, applied all around the eye and blended out in soft, feathery wisps. Apply Chanel Stylo Eyeshadow in Caroube along the upper and lower lids and blur it out with a flat eyeshadow brush.

NAKED AMBITION

The easiest look for summer is totally natural and unadulterated, and this season the trend is an almost wet, dewy, just-showered finish. Evoke the look of Bora Aksu: smack on a gobs of Make Up For Ever's HD liquid blush on the apples of the cheeks, around the contours of the nose and on the upper eyelid.

To really make it wet, add a nude hue of lip gloss on the eyes.

DRESS VICTORIA BECKHAM

ICE, ICE BABY

To channel that azure blue, afloat on a yacht in the Med (or Venice Beach) cool, we're taking the icy blue look of Elie Saab and making it way bluer. Line NARS'

Duo Cream Eyeshadow it Burn it Blue all around the eye in thick, wet pigment, add a slash of black eyeliner on the outer corners and blend it into the crease. Finish the look with gloops of clumpy mascara.

PINK CADILLAC

The numero uno summer makeup go-to look that'll never fail you is a bright, neon-esque pout. In this case, we've decked out our model Rachael in exactly what the girls wore at Carolina Herrera: bashes of vivid pink lipstick (we used Chanel Rouge Coco Shine in Intrépide), made more intense with pink powder pigment stippled on. Make it pop against glowy skin and defined brows.

DRESS MOSCHINO

MAKE UP CHU FAN
HAIR CHIAKI SABATA
MODEL RACHAEL PERCIVAL

GA-GA GLITTER

Wearing a decadent wash of gold eyeshadow is never a no-no when it comes to days lazing on the beach. We went for the look of Anna Sui (can makeup maestro Pat McGrath ever go wrong?), specifically smatterings of Laura Mercier Metallic Crème Eye Colour in Golden Mist right above and below the middle of the eye and at the inner corners. Ooze much?

