

ROSE ELIXIR

A legendary moisturiser is given a fresh new lightness

Dior's Prestige La Crème is known for its lush consistency and rich rose-infused fragrance. This month an ultra light, airy version of the crème is released, with a texture that suits warm, humid weather and doesn't clog oily or combination skin. In addition to the revitalising, regenerating properties from Rose de Granville extract, the moisturiser now lets skin 'breathe' better, and feels light and soothing upon application. With the humidity we're subjected to every day here, this is a godsend – fresh on the skin without losing any of its powerful properties.
